NEGOTIATORS SPEEDING UP PEACE TALKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel negotiators met today in a strained atmosphere brought on by an exchange of bitter statements Monday over failure to end the industry shutdown.

Almost complete silence prevailed as bargaining teams for the Steelworkers Union and the basic steel industry took their places around the conference table once more.

It was the third joint session of the negotiators since the union's strike halted almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production three weeks ago. The second such meeting, held Monday, failed to break their prolonged deadlock.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, is sitting in on the talks.

Asked if he had noticed any change in the attitude of either side as a result of criticism of both industry and union by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, Finnegan said: "I didn't discern any particular impact. Both sides are aware of the statement."

Monday's joint negotiations had been arranged by Finnegan before Mitchell accused both sides on Saturday of failing to make serious efforts to settle their contract dispute.

Gunsake Street Residents Unhappy

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—The Gunsake street wrangle is headed for a showdown. The members of Bible Missionary Church, located on Gunsake street, are unhappy about the street name and think Joylight would be better.

But the folks over on Maverick street like Gunsake and object to any change.

The County Board decided to think over the matter.

Another Busy Schedule for Veep's Party

By A. I. GOLDBERG

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon continues his triumphal whirlwind visit to Communist-ruled Poland today with an official luncheon and a sightseeing tour of Warsaw.

Today's itinerary included lunch with Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz, a visit to a housing development, a three-hour drive through Warsaw's suburbs, and a talk with students at the University of Warsaw.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam gives a reception for the visitors tonight, and they fly back to Washington Wednesday.

During another day of cheers from wildly enthusiastic Polish crowds, Nixon spent 5½ hours Monday discussing international issues and Polish-American problems with Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka. He wound up his arduous day as guest of honor at a reception by President Aleksandr Zawakski.

Nixon was accompanied by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President, at his long talk with Gomulka. Three hours had been allotted for the visit, but the party chief had lunch brought to his office so the discussion could continue.

Also present were Premier Cyrankiewicz and Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki, author of a Soviet-supported plan for an atom-free zone in central Europe which the United States has opposed.

Nixon said later the talk had ranged over international matters as well as Polish-American problems.

The length of the talk forced Nixon to cancel a visit to the remnant of Warsaw's Jewish ghetto.

House Okays Bill Raising Ceiling On Aid to Schools

HARRISBURG (AP)—Legislation raising substantially the ceiling on state-aided school construction moved over to the Senate today after winning House approval.

The administration-backed proposal would eliminate the present ceiling of $225,000,000. The new figure for the coming school year would be $1,150,000,000. In 1960-61, the limit would be $1,300,000,000.

The House passed the measure Monday night, 169-28.

The Commonwealth has put up about half the cost of school construction projects in recent years. Some $4 million dollars is budgeted for this purpose in the next two years.

In another development Gov. Lawrence said he would seek legislative approval of a four-point program to eliminate so-called frills in the state's costly school construction program.

He approved a report drafted by a special committee of the State Public School Building Authority calling on districts to standardize construction plans as a money-saving device.

The report also was approved by the Pennsylvania Society of Architects.

Curwensville Girl Victim of Accident

CURWENSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An 18-year-old girl tried to jump from an overrunning auto here Monday and was killed when it upset on her.

She was Shirley Jean Bloom of Curwensville. State police said her brother, Willard Bloom, was backing out of a driveway to take her to work when the car tumbled down an embankment. He escaped injury.

Three Youths Killed In Clarion Co. Crash

CLARION, Pa. (AP)—A car knocked down four steel posts along Route 322 near here and overturned Monday night, killing three youths and seriously injuring another.

The dead were Michael Shingledecker, 16; John E. Martz, 19, both of Clarion; and William C. Gourley, 19, of Clarion R. D. 1. Patrick Hepfinger, 15, of Clarion, was reported in serious condition at Clarion Hospital.

Police Slay Man Leading a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Grand-scale business promoter by day, robber, posing as a policeman, by night.

That's the double life police say was lived by Daniel M. Snyder, ex-Marine, art lover, and man about town.

His honest path by day and dishonest path by night came to light after police had shot him to death during a drugstore holdup attempt Sunday night.

Officers said Snyder, 40, who wore elevator shoes to increase his 5-foot-7 stature, called himself Police Sgt. Cain L. Wood and carried a detective sergeant's badge that was a remarkably accurate

BULLETIN

HARRISBURG (AP)—A top-level meeting of House leaders on the tax stalemate ended today without a final decision. But Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said he was optimistic about a settlement. GOP leaders retired after the session to discuss the situation among themselves and presumably to decide whether to recommend to their caucus that they supply McCann with the votes he needs to pass the 4 per cent sales tax bill. McCann said he needed 15 votes. "We were just in there to listen," Rep. Albert W. Johnson, GOP floor leader, told newsmen. McCann said no further meetings were scheduled.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, said today the outlook is good for a new agreement on the proposed 4 per cent sales tax compromise.

But his Democratic counterpart Rep. Stephen McCann, was non-committal. McCann's reaction could be expected since his disappointment was bitter when a similar agreement collapsed July 15.

Johnson and McCann sat down during the day with seven other House leaders to review new plans for pushing the compromise tax plan in an effort to break the current fiscal stalemate.

The break came Monday when 35 Philadelphia Democrats said they had changed their minds and now would vote for the plan to increase the 3 1/2 per cent sales levy to 4 per cent.

"We are solidly in line," said Rep. James H. Dougherty, chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic delegation.

He made the statement after Philadelphia Mayor Richard S. Dilworth met with Gov. Lawrence. It was at this session that an arrangement was worked out to insure Philadelphia representation on a joint House-Senate conference committee that will be set up ultimately to work out an agreement on appropriations.

The Philadelphians are seeking some way to persuade Senate Republicans not to cut appropriations for their city.

In addition to increasing the rate, the 148-million-dollar sales tax compromise also calls for extending the levy to retail sales at liquor stores and beer distributors, laundry and dry cleaning services.

Other legislative developments: School construction—The House voted approval, 169-28, of Gov. Lawrence's proposal to increase

Stock Market Undergoes Mild Decline Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils held their ground while aircrafts sold off rather sharply as the stock market underwent a moderate decline early this afternoon.

The drop in aircrafts, and also of some electronics, was ascribed by brokers to belated recognition of the chance that the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev may ease cold war tensions.

The immediate news Monday had no recognizable impact on the market for prominent publication since then has evidently had its effect on defense issues.

The rest of the market backed away gently from the level of its latest historic highs. Steels were narrowly mixed and motors little changed except for Chrysler which dropped a fraction.

Douglas Aircraft and Martin Co. slipped well over a point apiece. United Aircraft and General Dynamics were down about a point each.

Radio Corp. was traded heavily and down a point or more. Texas Instruments was down well over a point.

Allies To Be Kept Advised On Meetings

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has assured its chief Western Allies it will inform them fully of developments in the talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and will consult them on any specific agreements which may be proposed.

Eisenhower officials say, is determined not to give Khrushchev any opening for a wedge between the United States and other countries in the Western Alliance.

Informed officials said the President, in his European swing before he meets Khrushchev, will assure British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that no deals will be made behind their backs.

He also wants to get their ideas about problems he and Khrushchev may take up and their suggestions for improving East-West relations.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville are reported to have agreed that, in view of their deadlock with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko over Berlin, the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks are highly desirable.

The last session of the foreign ministers' conference is set for Wednesday. It is expected that the conference will end with a brief communique announcing agreement to disagree and declaring the meeting in recess. The next round of talks may come at New York in mid-September, when the ministers are expected to be on hand for the opening days of the annual U.N. General Assembly.

Walking Grandma From Ohio Nears Her Destination

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP)—The walking grandma from Ohio, Emma Gatewood, appeared today as if she might give up a 2,000-mile trek over the old Oregon Trail only 72 miles short of her destination.

Mrs. Gatewood, 71, Monday accepted a ride 10 miles east of here and an invitation to rest at the home of an unidentified woman from The Dalles after a brush with a welcoming committee.

Mrs. Gatewood, who declined to have any part in a civic reception planned for her at this Columbia River community 62 miles east of Portland, Ore., said she felt like a "sideshow freak."

The Gallipolis, Ohio, woman was fatigued and apparently near physical exhaustion. Her plans about continuing were uncertain.

Twenty-three Democrats registered in Court House Saturday as the party continues its raid on the 2-to-1 margin held by Republicans in voter registration.

In registrations Monday, two more Democrats signed to vote, as did two Republicans.

Respectively these are 38 and 11 deaths; 28 and 18 movings.

Suggests Drive To Assure Safe and Courteous Visit

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) proposed today a campaign for public understanding to insure a safe and courteous U.S. reception for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was among a majority on Capitol Hill who applauded President Eisenhower's decision to exchange visits with the Soviet leader.

There were some, however, who angrily protested, like Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) who called Eisenhower's invitation "a national disgrace."

"The Khrushchev visit, he said, will 'discourage millions of neutrals throughout the world and reduce the will of our own people to resist the evil forces of communism.'"

But the general reaction among Congress members—and among state governors meeting in San Juan, Puerto Rico—was that the potential good far outweighs the possible harmful effects.

Sparkman, like a majority of those who commented, voiced the hope that out of the exchange of visits could come understanding that might ease the many tensions that threaten world peace.

"I think one of the real problems is to insure a safe and courteous reception for Khrushchev," Sparkman told a reporter.

So far as most governors meetings at San Juan are concerned, Khrushchev will be welcomed to any of their states he cares to visit.

Rules Committee Calls Hearing On Labor Bill

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Grabat, A. Barden (D-Conn.) today accused representatives of organized labor of trying to "take over" the House Labor Committee in the drafting of labor control legislation.

Barden, the Labor Committee chairman, made his charge before the House Rules Committee in asking that the House be permitted to debate the legislation with no gag or parliamentary strings.

Denouncing labor union representatives for what he called reprehensible actions during the committee's six weeks of bill-drafting sessions, Barden declared: "Hofa's folks and the AFL-CIO have sought to move in and take over the chairmanship and run the committee."

Without working over the legislation itself, the committee decides on debate limits, the extent of amendments to be allowed, and ground rules which play a big part

Death Penalty Sought For Negro Rapists

LAGRANGE, Ga. (AP)—The state will demand the death penalty for three Negroes accused of raping two white women last Saturday. Solicitor General Wright Lipford said Monday.

The trio will go on trial next Monday.

A grand jury, which included one Negro, returned two indictments in the case Monday. The first charges Clifford Johnson, 32, Brannon Epps, 24, and George Alford Jr., 18, with raping one of the women. The other indictment charges Epps and Alford with raping the other victim.

Johnson and Epps are Lagrange laborers. Alford is a former soldier of Dayton, Ohio.

Police said the three Negroes had raped the women after first scaring them away from their escorts and finally snatching them from three would-be Negro protectors.

RED PREMIER MAY TIME VISIT WITH OPENING OF U. N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speculation on the precise date for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States ranged today from Sept. 8 to Sept. 16. The choice depends at least in part on the Communist chief's own planning for use of a world-wide sounding board.

Khrushchev has expressed interest in being in this country when the United Nations General Assembly convenes in New York Sept. 15.

Officials close to the negotiations for an exchange of visits between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower insist nothing so exact as an arrival date has been decided. The White House and the Kremlin, in announcing the plan Monday, spoke only generally of mid-September with a stay of two or three days in Washington and a 10-day tour of the country.

Informants say such details usually are left to a high-level visitor.

On that basis, officials considered the date could depend on Khrushchev's own choice: to start off in this country with a bang in the General Assembly, or to get a buildup and background out of conferences and travels in advance.

In any event the exchange of visits raises U. S.-Soviet diplomacy to the summit level, whether or not it results in a formal summit conference on a broader scale.

His exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and an earlier trip to Europe to confer with heads of the major Western Allies will give Eisenhower direct contacts with the participants in any later summit meeting.

A generally favorable reaction, both in this country and elsewhere in the world, greeted Monday's announcement that Khrushchev has accepted Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States next month.

Many expressed hope that East-West tensions would be eased if Khrushchev were impressed first hand with the nation's strength and peaceful intentions.

Communist China was notably absent from the chorus

Numerous Invitations Extended

NEW YORK (AP)—Invitations are mounting for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to see a cross-section of American cities next month.

Philadelphia wants him to take a look at the Liberty Bell and Independence Hall.

"Marshalltown, Iowa, has invited him to 'visit this community of diversified agriculture and industry in the heartland of America.'"

A suggestion that Khrushchev visit Kansas came from Olin K. Petefish, president of the Lawrence, Kan., Chamber of Commerce.

The San Antonio, Tex., Press Club invited Khrushchev to be guest speaker at its Gdiron dinner Oct. 10.

Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas said he would give Khrushchev the same cordial welcome of any other distinguished person.

New York has not extended any invitation, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner has said the city would cooperate officially.

Senate Approves Appropriation For Wildlife Lab

Congressman Leon H. Gavin, of this district, advised the Times-Mirror today that he had been informed by Sen. Joseph S. Clark that the Senate has approved an appropriation of $75,000 for a regional recreation and wild life habitat laboratory here.

Congressman Gavin said the appropriated funds will be used in development of the Research and Experimental Laboratory on the former Biddle Estate at Irvine.

The appropriation was included in the supplemental act

Toledo Retailers Competing With Area Shopping Centers

By BILL NEWKIRK
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Downtown Toledo, fighting to hold its retail business from the lure of shopping centers in the outskirts, is using some of the tricks of its suburban rivals.

The city began Monday a 45-day trial of four downtown pedestrian malls, complete with grass, trees, flowering shrubs, blooming flowers, benches, and a playground for the kiddies.

And to top what the shopping centers offer, the malls include an elongated pool containing five penguins from the Toledo Zoo and at other spots Saturday from the Toledo Museum of Art.

All this where only four days ago were only asphalt, cement, brick, and the busy bustle of vehicular traffic.

Thousands of Toledoans responded as the malls officially opened, milling through the suburban block area, and, as was hoped, dropping in at the stores around it to browse and buy.

Inspector Frank Baumgartner, head of the Police Traffic Bureau, said traffic on the rims of the malls was heavy but kept flowing smoothly.

To get space for the malls the city shut off two blocks each of Adams Street and Madison Avenue between Huron and St. Clair streets. Thirteen bus lines were rerouted.

Over the week end 150 workmen placed 2,400 feet of asphalt curb to outline curving walkways down the center of the mall blocks. Eighty tons of topsoil was leveled back of the new curbs and topped with 350 square yards of sod.

The workmen set out 110 young trees, more than 100 shrubs, and some 10,000 flowering plants. Toledo nurserymen supplied these at cost.

"Right To Know" Law Is Declared Unconstitutional

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Judge Herbert A. Mook of Crawford County says a portion of the state's "right to know" law requiring advance public notice on meetings of governing bodies is unconstitutional.

The law requires that meetings of the governing bodies of political subdivisions and of certain authorities and other agencies be open to the public. Sec. 3 of the act makes public notice of the meetings mandatory.

It was this portion which Judge Mook objected to in a decision Monday. He said the state constitution requires that "No bill, except general appropriations bills, shall be passed containing more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title." Judge Mook said the title, or heading, of the "right to know" act "never mentions notice when it would have been so simple to have merely added the words 'and requiring such bodies to give public notice of all regular and special meetings.'"

The jurist added that Sec. 3 of the act "is a most unsatisfactory and ineffective piece of legislation, not only from the standpoint of municipal boards concerned but from the standpoint of the public as well."

Judge Mook's ruling was handed down in connection with a Meadville City Council ordinance that closed part of a public alley. Two citizens, C. H. Ortmann and C. G. Mercatoris, opposed the ordinance.

In an appeal, the pair contended — among other things — that the ordinance was invalid because Council had given no notice of the special meeting at which the ordinance was passed.

Milk Winners At Farm Show To Get Plaques

Special plaques, instead of cash prizes, as heretofore, will be awarded to winners in the milk division at the 1956 Pennsylvania Farm Show, according to Blaine Schlosser Assistant County Agent.

Otherwise rules governing the milk division at the 1956 Farm Show will be little changed from a year ago.

Milk producers and dealers who want to compete in the show have two deadlines to meet, the first of them Sept. 1. Before that date they must get entry forms from Farm Show Manager John B. McCool. These must be filled out and returned to McCool postmarked not later than Sept. 30—the second deadline.

After October 1 and before next Jan. 1, milk samples will be collected under McCool's direction on unannounced visits to farms and milk plants, and scored at once locally.

All whose milk scores 92 per cent or higher will be eligible for plaques. These will be announced at the Farm Show. No milk will be scored at the Farm Show, but high scorers will be invited to supply samples for display.

The new method for collection and scoring milk samples of Farm Show entrants, adopted at the request of producers and dealers, won their further endorsement and also that of Farm Show officials during its first year.

Attorney Acquires Historic Building for Law Offices

Offices of Attorney C. Henry Nicholson are now located in the Weimore building on Second avenue, between YWCA and Pennsylvania Gas Co. offices. Nicholson, in Warren National Bank building for 22 years, opened in his new location Monday morning. — Timesphoto Sherluck.

Offices of C. Henry Nicholson, attorney, were opened in a new location Monday.

Nicholson and his brother, Emert Nicholson, office manager, purchased one of Warren's older and well-known buildings last Thursday, the Weimore building at 211 Second avenue next to Pennsylvania Gas Co. office building.

Office equipment was moved to the new attorney offices Saturday. Nicholson will occupy entire first floor of the building, apartments will remain on second floor, the third floor is vacant.

C. Henry Nicholson has been a practicing attorney in Warren since 1937 when he opened on fifth floor of Warren National Bank Building the same two-room office as occupied until last Saturday.

Except for a three-year hitch in the Army from 1942 until 1946, Nicholson conducted his business from the bank building for 22 years.

Born in Elk County, Henry came to Warren when he was two weeks old, therefore, as Henry explains it, he is not a Warren native.

His former offices overlook Second avenue directly opposite Oakland and St. Joseph's cemeteries across Allegheny River. In the distance at the foot of Allegheny Mountains along Allegheny River can be seen the smoke stacks of United Refinery and a partial view of Hammond Iron Works building.

New offices have five rooms including bath and kitchen. Lansing D. Weimore, former Warren County judge, purchased the land on which the present building stands in 1928. In 1973 Lansing built the three-story structure. Until last Thursday the building was in the Weimore family.

J. P. Jefferson, a son-in-law of Lansing Weimore, also had offices in the building. Weimores and Jeffersons held considerable lumber interests in the area some years ago.

Oyster Institute Mulls Over Dreary News at Convention

WASHINGTON 6—If you think you have troubles, consider the unhappy lot of the oyster.

Let's drop in on the Oyster Institute, holding its 51st annual convention and mull over the dreary news.

The hurricanes of 1938 and 1944, plus the storms of 1950, played hob with the Eastern oyster's homelife. Now, when it might be making a comeback—a female lays a hundred million eggs at a time—the starfish are eating them wholesale.

"The starfish," said oysterman Eric T. Ball of New Haven, Conn., "has no natural enemies. Except me."

"A starfish wraps itself around the shell and sucks the oysters right out," said David H. Wallace, the institute's director.

One result of our problem has been, 40 years ago we had a per capita consumption in this country of around two pounds. Now we're down to a half pound."

"Everyone I know," Ball said sadly, "keeps asking me, 'When are we going to get those good oysters?'"

Even though these aren't the good old days, when oysters grew lush and were synonymous with high living the industry still rakes in around 12 million bushels a year. These sell for a tidy 30 million dollars.

The oyster is the only salt water animal grown in under-water farms. Usually the oysterman leases the land, transplants the oysters as they grow larger, fights off as many enemies as possible, and hopes to harvest his crop in from two to five years.

Unshuck an old oysterman and you'll probably find he was born for this job.

Ball is a fourth generation oyster man. "I have an old book at home," he said, "written back in 1881. The business hasn't changed much."

You know the old saying, "He drinks like a fish." It might be more accurate to say, "He drinks like an oyster." The oyster gets its food by drinking 25 gallons of salt water a day, plucking little dainties from it as it goes along.

Although things aren't too bright now, they once were much worse. In 1925, an oyster bocket says, "catastrophe struck the industry."

Chicago health authorities decided that a typhoid epidemic had started from Chesapeake Bay oysters, and "the demand for oysters dropped to almost nothing."

But oyster officials worked with health officers on regulations, sanitation requirements were set up in 1927, and no epidemic has been traced to shellfish since.

KHRUSHCHEV VISIT

According to William L. Ryan, Associated Press Foreign News Analyst, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is taking a calculated risk in accepting an invitation to visit the United States.

Exchange of visits with President Eisenhower will permit an unusual calm to settle over the main areas of the cold war for a couple months, Ryan believes, but there is no reason to suppose that peace has broken out.

In Ryan's opinion Khrushchev has long indicated he badly wanted the invitation to America. He maneuvered industriously to get it. But why was he so eager?

Khrushchev's projected few days in Washington and President Eisenhower's in Moscow will be in effect a meeting at the summit, a two-sided meeting with other countries on the outside.

The Western Allies are being reassured and are making noises like they are welcoming the exchange. By the time Khrushchev gets through, they possibly will be wondering what really went on behind closed doors. The idea that Khrushchev is thinking along such lines cannot be discarded, for he is known to have entertained a notion of splitting the Allies by hinting at a possible two-way deal to keep the world in its place.

But there is some risk for Khrushchev himself Ryan says. The same uneasiness he may seek to arouse among the Western Europeans also can be provoked among the Chinese Communists. A Moscow-Washington display of peace, friendship, and all's right with the world can hardly make Peiping sublimely happy.

Red China is in no position to flirt with the idea of world peace. It has too far to go, straining every muscle to make its own revolution succeed. It needs an American enemy.

Coming on top of the obvious failure of the Big Four foreign ministers to agree on Berlin and Germany, the sudden outbreak of exuberant good will might be viewed as an unexpected, highly welcome ray of light, Ryan comments.

But the Berlin affair is working out as predicted by those familiar with Soviet ways. Khrushchev issued an ultimatum. To carry through on it would have been a grave risk. To back down would have been awkward. What better solution than to leave the whole matter up in the air while Khrushchev lingers about the United States trying to look like a pigeon of peace, he concludes.

WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How high is up? Or when is a summit conference not a summit conference? No matter what they're called — and they are not being called summit conferences — the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev get both men off a hook, for a while, anyway.

Yet, as of now, Khrushchev is away ahead on points in his duel with Eisenhower over Berlin where he precipitated a crisis which he has never let subside. He knows, and Eisenhower knows, he has the United States on a tough spot.

As a result of all he has done, he is getting exactly what he with Eisenhower.

It seems safe to say that if Khrushchev hadn't caused the Berlin crisis, and refused to budge an inch, Eisenhower wouldn't be asking him to Washington in September.

The dictionary describes a summit as the highest point. Since Eisenhower and Khrushchev are the top men in their governments, no meeting between Americans and Russians could be any more of a summit than this one.

Still, Eisenhower doesn't call Khrushchev's visit here and his later visit with him in Moscow a summit meeting. He says they will have "informal talks," which will afford an opportunity for an exchange of views about problems of mutual interest.

Actually, the two men can reach understandings on their problems without signing formal papers. That could be done later — at a meeting officially billed as the summit — with Britain and France sitting in.

Whatever Eisenhower works out with Khrushchev will probably be acceptable to the Allies. He's making it plain he won't do anything behind their backs.

The Western alliance might have broken up if Eisenhower had let the Russians shut off Western access to West Berlin, as they had threatened to do, indirectly. So he couldn't afford to back down. Yet, if he called Khrushchev's hand and tried to run a blockade, the shooting might start.

For both men this ugly dilemma may be solved in their talks. If not, at least the talks will have postponed the showdown for some months.

Eisenhower is saved from embarrassment in another way, since the meetings with Khrushchev will not bear the title of summit.

He had repeatedly refused to meet the Soviet leader at the summit unless the foreign ministers at Geneva made some progress. Since they haven't, he couldn't very well agree to a "summit" meeting with Khrushchev without appearing to cave in.

This way, since the talks will be "informal," that dilemma is removed.

If the West didn't get its troops out of Berlin, Khrushchev threatened to let the East German Communists control the road and routes through which the West sends supplies to West Berlin.

If they shut off the routes, the West tried to force its way through, Moscow promised to the help of the East Germans. But couldn't the allies send in sup-

Here and There

From the Warren Weekly Mirror of fifty years ago we learn that plans were progressing "on a branch trolley line" to run into the proposed new park at Glade run. Says the article: "That Warrenites will be afforded a pleasant outing place in close proximity to town is now a foregone conclusion. The efforts of the Warren Street Railway Company to establish such an outing place have resulted satisfactorily, almost every impending obstacle having been removed. The supervisors of Glade township at a recent meeting granted the company a franchise over a portion of the road which the company desires to traverse in order to reach the site of the selected park. The consent of a few property owners is yet necessary and when these concessions are obtained the work of laying track will begin. The grounds will be reached by a line about a mile in length, which traverses the road branching from the Warren and Gladerun turnpike, just above the Lacy farm, for a distance of about three quarters of a mile, and then deviating to the left the line will lead through private property until the park is reached. It is the purpose to complete the line this fall, but it is not probable that improvement upon the park will be attempted before spring."

It was runaways, and not automobile collisions, that created the most excitement back in those days. From an article in same file we clip this one: "A ripple of excitement was created in the business section of town about eleven o'clock Monday by a runaway. Two horses attached to the Lander stage were left unhitched in front of Fehlmans grocery store. While the driver was in the store transacting business. It is not known what frightened the team but they bolted up Second street to Johnson's Exchange at breakneck speed, where their course was diverted to the sidewalk, and they ran a gauntlet of about eight feet wide with telegraph poles, bicycle racks on one side, and the building on the other without the least damage except to some fruit that was standing in front of Siegfried's grocery store. When Market street was reached the horses continued up that thoroughfare and ran as far as the Phillips dairy farm, near North Warren, where they were finally stopped. No damage except a slight breakage sustained to the conveyance, resulted from the exciting flight." And here's a reminder that they used to run excursion trains from Warren to Celoron Park back in the good old days before automobiles became the popular mode for transportation: "An excursion to Celoron, under the auspices of North Clarendon Lodge I.O.O.F. will be run Wednesday, Aug. 9, from Tiona, Clarendon, and Warren, via the D. A. V. & P. In the evening a car will leave Celoron dock at 10:30 p. m. and make final connections for Warren, Sheffield and intermediate points." And this one — "On account of the Elks' carnival at Erie, the P. & E. Railroad will sell excursion tickets good only on August 5, at a rate of a single fare for the round trip."

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★
With Little Barking, Bite Goes Into Business Law
By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—With no fanfare whatever, President Eisenhower signed into law the other day a Clayton Act Finality Bill. This measure may have wide effect in protecting consumer interests by preventing unfair or deceptive business practices and by promoting fair competition.

The Clayton Act, passed in 1914, outlaws specific business practices recognized as instruments of monopoly.

The new law will make cease and desist orders, issued under the Clayton Act, effective in 60 days unless they are appealed to federal courts by business firms against whom they have been issued. This new enforcement power will be retroactive to 1915.

The hundreds of these orders issued in the last 44 years have remained largely unenforceable because of a gimmick in the original law. It provided that no Clayton Act cease and desist order could be made final unless three violations could be proved or unless the original cease and desist order was appealed to federal court by a respondent and the court then affirmed the order.

By simply doing nothing business firms could stymie enforcement unless they chose to comply voluntarily.

FIVE INDEPENDENT government regulatory agencies which administer parts of the Clayton Act are affected by the new finality bill. They are Interstate Commerce Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Communications Commission, Federal Reserve Board and Federal Trade Commission.

The last named agency has had finality enforcement powers for its functions under the Federal Trade Commission Act, but it lacked this authority under the Clayton Act. Under the Trade Commission Act, FTC since 1915 has issued nearly 100 cease and desist orders with civil penalties ranging from $100 to $38,000.

The Trade Commission is now reviewing 487 cease and desist orders it has issued under the Clayton Act since 1915. Involved are 2,079 business firms. About a dozen of these orders—as in the cement industry case—involve from 100 to 150 respondents.

BUSINESS PRACTICES against which the orders have been issued include price discrimination, exclusive dealing and tying arrangements, corporate mergers, interlocking directorates and Robinson-Patman Act violations when the effect of such practices lessens competition and tends to create monopoly.

Under the new law, cease and desist orders will become automatically effective within 60 days unless the respondent in the case goes to court and petitions that the order be set aside. If there is such review, orders become final when affirmed by court.

No criminal penalties are involved for violations. But the new act provides for civil penalties of up to $5,000 for each violation.

EFFORTS TO HAVE Clayton Act cease and desist orders made final go back more than 20 years. Early recommendations were made in broad language. But in President Eisenhower's last four Economic Reports, he has made specific recommendations for five amendments to the antitrust laws as means to promote economic growth.

Passage of the Clayton Act Finality Bill is the first of these recommendations approved by Congress. It may be one of the most important Congressional actions this year.

It is significant, however, that this legislation was introduced and pushed by Democrats—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) and four others in the Senate, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and two other representatives in the House. The bill had backing from many small business groups hurt by monopoly practices.

plies with an airlift, as President Truman had done in smashing Stalin's Berlin blockade in 1948? Eisenhower at a White House dinner and in news conferences has made it plain the West's position is potentially far worse than what developed in 1948. Red jamming of Western radar would make a mass airlift very difficult. The Reds didn't interfere with the air transport in 1948.

And Western troops, overwhelmingly outnumbered by the Russians; admittedly would be no match for them on the ground.

Radio and TV
By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In the coming season ABC-TV will continue the type of filmed action television programming that brought it increased audiences and dollars last season.
"The mass culture of this country is escape," says Thomas W. Moore, vice president in charge of programming for the network, in describing ABC-TV's plans.
"Action — adventure is at the moment the most effective entertainment in our medium. It will continue as long as we can't come up with something more appealing."
"The coming season will see a continuation of our programming philosophy of the past few years. The emphasis will be on action and adventure. We would have liked to add new situation comedies."
Nearly all of the network's programs in prime evening viewing time will be on film.
ABC-TV will have very few specials, compared to the other networks. Walt Disney plans three on man in relation to space, and three others will feature Bing Crosby, Pat Boone and Frank Sinatra.
"We believe specials should be just that," says Moore. "A program by Crosby or Sinatra certainly constitutes a special. But it seems kind of silly to program specials just for the sake of calling them specials."
In 50 half-hour periods during prime evening viewing time, the network has scheduled 13 Westerns, 17 adventure and detective, seven varieties, and five situation comedies.
On Sunday nights the ABC-TV screen will bristle with action. "Maverick" at 7:30 is followed by "Lawman" and then a new Western, "The Rebel," which Moore describes as "the adventures of a Reconstruction beatnik." Then comes a new hour adventure series, "The Alaskans."
The situation comedies returning to the network are the Gale Storm show, the Donna Reed show, "Ozzie and Harriet," "The Real McCoys," and "Leave It to Beaver."

How to Keep Well

ANTIVENIN FOR SNAKE BITE
An antivenin is available that protects against all poisonous snakes in the United States, except the coral snake. The product comes in a kit containing dried serum, an ampoule of sterile water, and a disposable syringe. The dry serum remains stable for at least five years without refrigeration.
In the past, snake bite victims failed to receive antivenin because it was not known what type of snake had been encountered. In many instances the local physician assumed that the snake was of a species prevalent in the area and acted accordingly. Some persons survived without the use of antivenin and it was difficult to know whether the physician guessed right or wrong.
Poisonous serpents are found in 48 of our states, the only exceptions being Maine and Alaska. More than 3,000 bites are recorded annually but fewer than 20 victims die.
Snake bite always is a medical emergency and every victim ought to be hospitalized if possible. Treatment is more effective when started early. The first rule is to remain calm so the circulation slows, which delays the spread of the poison to the rest of the body. Ice packs also slow up absorption.
A tightly tied tourniquet is applied immediately to trap the poison in the region of the bitten extremity. Next make multiple incisions thru the fang marks and employ suction with the mouth, a suction bulb, or whatever is available; the venom is harmless should it be swallowed.
Antivenin then is given and the blood type is determined quickly, because later the toxins from the venom cause such changes in the blood that typing is impossible. This is important because a blood transfusion may be needed. The victim is out of danger if he survives the first 48 hours.
Snake bite is more serious in the very young and very old. A bite on an extremity is less dangerous than one near a vital organ. The degree of penetration varies with the clothing worn and the condition of the snake's fangs. Large snakes are more dangerous because they insert a bigger dose of venom.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies letter.

VENOUS BLOOD
V. M. writes: If blood is to be tested can it be taken from a vein anywhere in the body or just the arm?
Reply
Anywhere along an arm or a leg where a large vein is close to the surface. An arm usually is selected because the veins are prominent and blood can be removed with minimal distress. An ear lobe or fingertip is used when only a drop of blood is needed.

OLD ARTHRITIS
C. D. writes: I developed arthritis 20 years ago and since treatment didn't help at that time I discontinued it. Now I'm wondering if the newer drugs might be helpful at this late date?
Reply
Yes, provided the joints are not stiffened and their surfaces are not damaged beyond repair.

ALLERGY AND ECZEMA
P. T. writes: Is dry eczema on the face due to allergy?
Reply
Yes, or to a somewhat related condition—contact dermatitis. The word eczema is a catch-all for various types of skin lesions.

Reply
Yes. Our leaflet on biting insects may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Mature Parent
Restoring Self-Confidence Should Be Done Gradually
By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Paul R. lives in a big city. Shortly before school closed, he was accosted on his way home by three big boys he'd never seen before. They roughed him up, broke his glasses, tore his shirt. Until term's end, his father took him to school every day and his mother brought him home. Now, weeks after the attack, Paul's afraid to go to the corner alone. His mother, writes, "Isn't it about time he was standing on his own feet again?"

Did you ever fracture a leg, Mrs. R.?

If so, you'll remember how gradually your doctor reduced its supports. First, there was the plaster cast. When your bone had sufficiently strengthened, he removed the cast and gave you crutches to hobble about on. After outgrowing the crutches, you used a cane for a while.

If your doctor had told you to walk before you had gained the assurance provided by the cast, the crutches and cane, you'd have felt as scared as Paul feels when you tell him to go to the corner alone.

When a child's self-confidence is fractured by a frightening experience, we remove our supports as gradually as doctors remove the supports of broken bones. But because the broken self-confidence is emotional instead of physical, we tend to see our support as "pampering." We wonder if we're right to hold him up instead of making him "stand on his own feet."

This is not reasonable. So I suggest that you make a plan to remove your support from Paul gradually.

When you want him to go to the corner, walk there halfway with him. Then wait until he returns to you. Next time he goes to the corner, let him walk the whole way alone—but wait on the sidewalk before your house so that he can turn around and see you there if he needs to. If he has to go farther than the corner, go with him until his certainty that he can make the corner by himself is so firmly set that he can trust it beyond the corner.

Giving this support will only irritate you if you doubt it's wisdom. So, if you're still unsure it's wise to give it, it might be a good idea to consult a psychiatrist. Like Paul, you may need support for your self-confidence—his assurance that premature demands on your child's fractured trust of himself are as foolish as premature demands on broken legs.

Teacher Cites Examples of Overprivileged Teen-Agers

A high school teacher casually mentioned something about overprivileged teen-agers. When I asked her what she meant by the term, she cited a few examples from observing students at her own public high school.

According to this teacher an overprivileged teen-ager is one who—

Expects—and gets—not only a driver's license the year he is old enough to drive, but a car of his own as well.

Charges an exorbitant fee to his dad whenever the teen-ager takes a girl to a formal dance.

Expects a pat on the head from mother and dad for making a mere passing grade.

Tells her mother she would rather stay home from a dance than wear the same party dress twice with the same crowd—and gets her mother's sympathy, and a new dress.

Expects her mother to get the car out and drive her distances she could walk in five minutes because she doesn't want to be seen walking.

Volunteers her mother's services as hostess, chauffeur, cookie maker, or whatever, without first checking to see if it is convenient for the mother or even considering that it might be a job she could do herself.

Has a mother who lets him sleep until noon during summer vacations because he stays out late every night and "needs his rest."

"And," claims this teacher, "these overprivileged teen-agers are far more numerous than you might think. Often it takes two parents working to keep them from feeling underprivileged."

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MEYERS

Miss Shirley Ashton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ashton of Grand Valley, became the bride of William Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Meyers of 7 West Fifth avenue, Warren, at 11:30 a. m. July 18.

The double ring service was performed by Father Edward Jacobs in St. John's Catholic church in Tidouate, the altar decorated with white shasta daisy-pom poms. Mrs. Charlotte Rosequist was at the organ and selections sung by Mrs. George Atkins, Jr., included "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "O Sanctissima" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin wedding gown, featuring an overlay of white lace, fitted bodice with Queen Ann collar, and full skirt with chapel train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a band of white roses and her bouquet was fashioned of the same flowers combined with stephanotis. Her pearl pendant and matching ear-rings were the bridegroom's gift.

As maid of honor, Betty Jane Lander of Lucinda wore yellow and white flocked nylon; the bridesmaid, Geraldine Judy, also of Lucinda, wore pink and white; Junior bridesmaid, Diane Meyers of Warren, in orchid and white; and the flower girl, also in pink and white. Each had white accessories and carried shasta daisy-pom poms. Their matching seed pearl necklaces were gifts from the couple.

Completing the bridal party, Robert Meyers of Warren was best man for his brother; ushers were Thomas Meyers, another brother, and Frank DeLazio, both of Warren; James Meyers, Warren, as ring bearer.

Mrs. Ashton chose an outfit of white chiffon over bronze and coral satin print, with white accessories and bronze mums. The attire of Mrs. Meyers was a pink lace dress, white accessories and white roses.

The reception, catered by Alberta Collage, was held from 2:00 until 4:00 p. m. at the bride's home, with 100 guests. Susan Chambers and Judy Fox served as aides. Guests attended from Grand Valley, Pittsfield, Warren, North Warren, Sheffield, Clarion, Lucinda, Corry, Titusville, Tarentum, York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Baltimore.

A black and white polka dot dress, black and white accessories and a red carnation corsage were worn by the bride for the couple's trip to the southwest.

The bride, a 1952 graduate of Youngsville High School and formerly employed by the FBI, Houston Foster in Houston, Texas, and Struthers Wells Corporation, is presently employed by Sylvania in Warren.

Mr. Meyers was graduated from Warren High School and Grove City College, served two years overseas with the armed forces, and is employed as a salesman for Fleming Ford Company in Titusville.

Parties for the bride were given by Mrs. Frederick Rulander, Jr., North Warren; Mrs. Emil Meyers, Warren; Mrs. Max Smith, Pittsfield; Mrs. Douglas Smith, North Warren; and Mrs. Ned Chase, Sugar Grove.

Campus Choices for College Girls

New Styles Vie With Old Stand-Bys

BY GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When a college gal goes shopping this fall for clothes to take back to school with her, her list will include both the new fashion themes and the beloved classics.

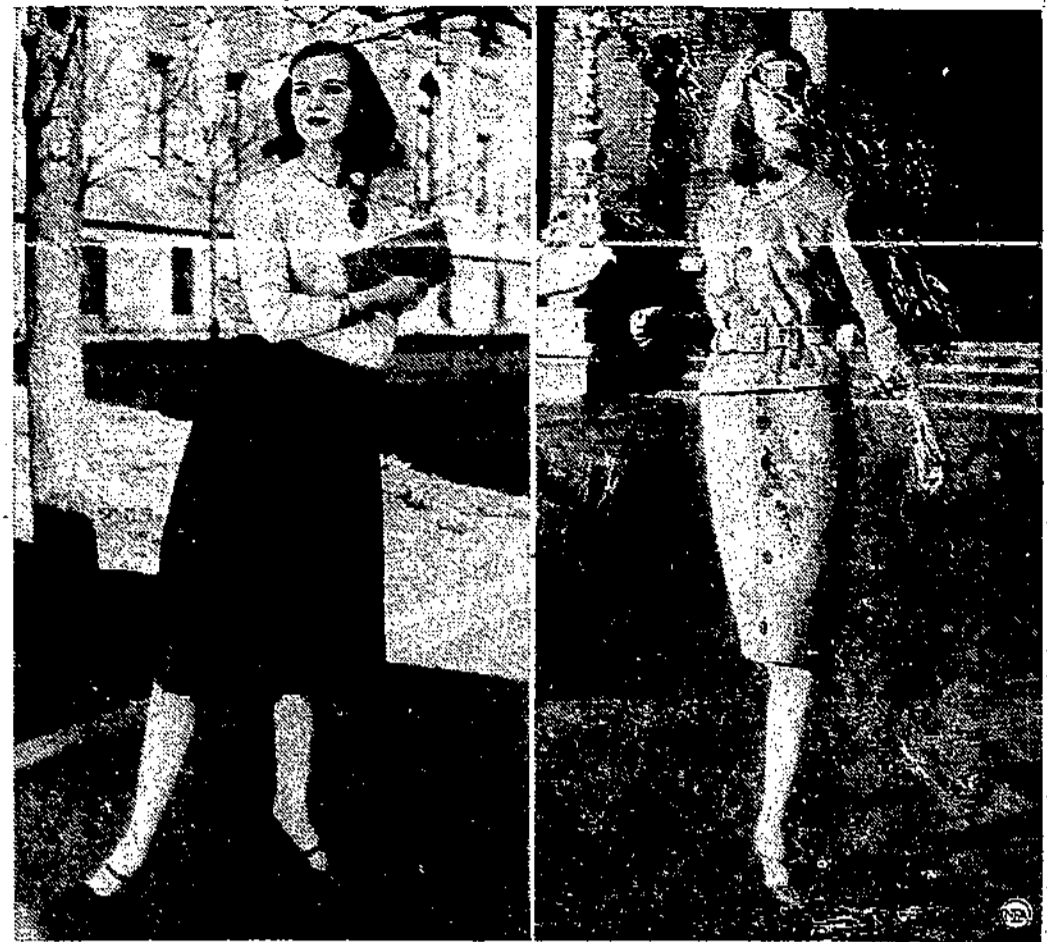

In addition to her sweaters and skirts, her shirts and Bermuda shorts, she should look for men's wear fabrics in her favorite separates by way of something new. Neutral combinations, such as gray and camel, and unusual greens and browns look as new as the houndstooth checks shown in college shops.

Plaids are bigger, better and more brilliant than ever. Ponchos are shown for after class wear in both plaids and solids.

There are lots of reversible coats, jackets, and stoles. Jumpers have been designed to be worn either with or without a blouse. The velveteen jumpers are for date wear and usually offer scoop necks and full skirts.

There are plenty of pleated skirts this fall and the dried-to-match look in sweaters and skirts still reigns.

We show here two obvious campus choices for any college-bound gal. Classic pullover, is worn (left) with skirt in tapestry plaid by Century. Skirt is wool, its fullness achieved by off-campus, daytime occasion, a suit like this one (right), is a buttoned down the front.

East's bids of five, six and seven hearts were all good sacrifice bids. Even at seven hearts his partner would only be down four tricks for a 700-point loss and, as East had correctly reasoned, South would have no trouble with either six diamonds or six no-trump.

What East had failed to reason was that South was also cold for seven no-trump and there was no sacrifice available against that bid.

Of course, South did not bid that seven no-trump himself. Also, he did not double seven hearts as many players would. Instead he passed and left matters up to his partner.

This gave North a problem but he had little trouble solving it. North had considered a seven bid over his partner's six diamonds and again over his partner's six no-trump but had refrained on the theory that South had taken command with his Blackwood four no-trump.

When South failed to double seven hearts it was a different story. Obviously, he did not think that West could make it. Hence, he wanted North to go to seven no-trump if he could and with three top spades North was willing.

The fourth annual reunion of descendants of Charles and Anna Bouton was held at Willard City Park in Jamestown August 2, with 22 adults and 23 children attending.

A delicious tureen dinner was served at 1:30 p. m. and the remainder of the afternoon spent in entertainment, adults enjoying softball and bingo, the children participating in several games and contests. Winners for these latter events were Lynette Olson, Stanley Laurence, Steve Olson, Pamela Hedlund; Karen Olson and Beverly Hanson were winners of the adult balloon toss.

Officers for the reunion to be held in Warren next year were elected as follows: President and vice president, Charles and Eileta Tingwall; secretary and treasurer, Glenn and Gerry Logan; historian, Mrs. Thelma Haag, Warren.

Serving as committee for this year's reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Whitney, Jamestown, who planned and provided a very enjoyable time for all concerned.

"It's everything they say — and more!"

That's how Mrs. J. W. Edwards of RD #2, Warren, feels about her electric water heater.

"And that's especially true," she added, "for mothers with young children. With a safe electric water heater, I don't have to worry when the children play near the water heater. There's no pilot light — no fumes. And I always have plenty of hot water for baths — and to keep up with the washing. Our electric water heater certainly makes life more pleasant for all of us."

LEGION AUXILIARY PICNIC-MEETING

Chief Cornplanter Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, prefaced its regular meeting with a tureen picnic on the lawn at the Legion Home. Guests were Mrs. Gordon Cederquist and her daughter, Grace, the latter being the unit's representative at Keystone Girls' Camp at Shippensburg State Teachers' College this summer. Following the meeting, she talked entertainingly of her experiences at camp.

Reports of the department convention in Pittsburgh were given by the delegates, Hazel Witz, Edith Ahlquist and Mary Ann Buerkle. Mrs. Gerda Carlson was commended for having won a personal award for her scrapbook in the Department Chaplain's Project; and Mary Ann Buerkle for her first prize on her report as Council rehabilitation chairman.

Serving as committee for the evening were Alberta Germon-ton, Myrtle Mangini and Dolly Hanson. Members were reminded the next meeting, August 11, will also be preceded by a tureen dinner at the Legion Home.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH ACTIVITIES

Women of the church will meet at the parsonage, 3 Verbeck street, at 7:45 this evening to honor Miss Marjorie Olney with a bridal shower. The executive committee of the Women's Missionary group will serve as hostesses for the affair.

Midweek prayer and Bible study at 7:00 p. m. Wednesday will be followed by a church business session; the junior department of the Sunday school will picnic at Allen Park in Jamestown at 4:00 p. m. Friday, the juniors to bring rolls and winners, the teachers to provide tureens for the six o'clock supper.

WBA MEETING

Members of WBA will meet in S. F. of A. Hall at 2:30 p. m. Thursday for a social afternoon, followed by a 6:00 o'clock tureen dinner and the regular business session at 8:00.

Record Turnout for Marconi Tournament

The 14½ tables in play for last night's Marconi Bridge Club tournament was the largest turnout in many months for a regular weekly game, providing a 15-table movement.

The North-South pairs, with a 195 average, were Mrs. Helen Rockwell and A. J. "Moon" Scalise, 238½; A. J. Bova and M. A. Kornreich, 226½; Mr. and Mrs. James Potter, 206½; Mr. and Mrs. James Howell, 205½; Mrs. William Mulvey and Mrs. Fred Weigle, 204.

Average for East-West play was 182, with the following in top-scoring positions: Mrs. Richard French, Jamestown, and Mrs. Shuri Glass, 216½; Mrs. J. A. Bevevino and Mrs. M. A. Kornreich, 215½; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Conaway, 213½; Mrs. Harry Hendrickson, Jamestown, and Mrs. Paul Utneher, Beaver Falls, 200½; Mrs. Marian Thompson and Mrs. Lucy Johnson, Jamestown, 200.

Local players will likely be in attendance Wednesday evening for the Jamestown Bridge Center's monthly Master Point game; Mrs. Conrad Nelson, of Jamestown, reported last evening the next NY-Penn Unit game is set tentatively for Aug. 23 at Salamanca.

Also coming up on the late summer bridge schedule will be the annual Inter-City Team Tournament to be played at Marconi Outing Club here on August 30. Teams from Jamestown, Erie, Corry, Olean and Warren will be competing for the permanent silver trophy in a two-session event, with dinner between games.

This contest is a long-standing one, revived two years ago, and won by Warren in 1957 at Jamestown and again in 1958 at North East. Local teams are asked to make their reservations with M. A. Kornreich.

Later in the fall, October 9, 10, and 11, Marconi Bridge Club will be host for the annual Warren Tournament, which attracts players from all over the section and will also be held at Marconi Outing Club.

Count Stands All Square At One Each in the 1959 All-Star Baseball Games

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The count stood all square at one apiece for the 1959 All-Star classic between the American and National League today. And back to the formal pennant races went the ballplayers.

Manager Casey Stengel's American Leagueers pinned a 5-3 defeat on Fred Haney's Nationals as a paid attendance of 54,982, fourth highest in the game's history, sat through the game in sun-baked Memorial Coliseum Monday.

The victory avenged a 5-4 setback absorbed by the Stengel men in the first All-Star game July 7 at Pittsburgh.

The game grossed $283,120 and netted, after taxes, $262,336 47.

The Pittsburgh game grossed $229,655 and netted $194,303 46.

Individual honors went to catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, whose two-run blast off Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale put the Americans in front, 3-1, in the third inning for a lead they never relinquished.

Oddly enough, this was Yogi's 11th All-Star appearance but the first time he had hit for extra bases.

Collective honors went to the American League pitchers who thrashed such sluggers as Hank Aaron, Ernie Banks, and Willie Mays.

The winning pitcher was Jerry Walker of Baltimore, 20 who just a year ago was laboring for Knoxville, Tenn. in the Class A Sally League.

Walker, inserted into the squad the afternoon before, yielded but one run and two hits in the three innings he worked.

The loser was strikeout artist Don Drysdale of the Dodgers. Don served up home run balls to Frank Malzone of the Red Sox and Berra.

"This was a great day for the Italians," said Yogi, referring to the homerun by Rocky Colavito of Cleveland in the eighth inning and Malzone's four bagger.

Sharing pitching honors with Walker were Early Wynn, Hoyt Wilhelm, Billy O'Dell and Cal McLish.

For the Nationals, Dodger Jim Gilliam and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati smacked homeruns.

Nameless Nine Whitewashed By Iron-Clad Betts Black Knights

Ken Sorenson gave up three scattered hits as he closed out Nameless Nine for Betts Machine Shop, 10-0 at State Hospital Monday.

The Black Knight pitcher allowed one base on balls and fanned nine Nameless sluggers. Betts had a double play, Schenck to Berdine to Ricker-son.

Gathering the singles for the Nameless Nine were Phil Stewart, Chuck Reese and Chuck Stull.

Darkmen started scoring runs right off, fifth inning the only period in which they failed to score. Up to that time, they held a 9-0 edge, adding the final run bottom of sixth.

With a man on via walk, Syd Cummings homered to score the opening two runs.

In second, three runners came home with a hit batter followed by John Harrington's single, a walk, and a sacrifice fly.

Knights made it 8 and 0 in third with three walks backed by Bob Schenck's double. Bill Massa opened fourth with a two-sacker and registered the ninth run with a single from LeTrent's bat.

Cummings led off with a double, scoring on Rico Bonavita's double to end the scoring.

Kinzua Drops One To Sugar Grove; Second of Season

After their 13-12 defeat by Busti, Kinzua remains on top of Chautauqua County League standings.

The loss was their second of the season of 13 games. Kinzua is defending champion.

Busti was trailing 12-10 going into last half of ninth after a hectic slugfest.

Dave Wilcox narrowed the count to 12-11 when he doubled in Wayne Abbot and moved Don Lepley to third.

Up came Eddie Hatch, who planted a single over first base, chasing home Wilcox and Lepley with the winning runs.

Teams battled down through three innings in identical order, 2-3-0.

Top man at the plate for Kinzua was Flick, hitting 3-for-5. Hall, the twirler, was 2-for-4. Shortstop Koebley tripled for Kinzua, doubles were polished off by C. Peterson, Mohny and Hall.

Sugar Grove beat Jamestown 17-3 as Ken Olsen twirled a three-hitter for the county entrants in the New York State League.

BUOS MOVE UP LATE
"The game isn't over until the last man is out" may be a time-worn expression, but in the case of the 1959 Pirates, it couldn't be truer. In their first 49 wins in '59, they took 31 by coming from behind in the 6th inning or later.

Chevy Garagemen of Sheffield Show Merchants KO Route: 8 to 5

Jones Chevrolet of Sheffield won their fourth consecutive game Monday evening, 8 to 5 over 400 Block Merchants.

Sheffield's nine's victory came in City Softball action before a "good" crowd on West Side diamond, home field of the City loop.

Merchants recently toppled title contender Betts Machine Shop Black Knights for a surprise victory. Sheffield controlled the scoring down to the final inning.

The four-hit pitching of Steffan made Merchants' game sluggish, having to work hard to tally the five runs. The Jones moundsmen issued four walks and struck out two batters, while his opponent, Sturdavent, fanned four Sheffield sluggers.

Steffan's mound art was backed by timely extra-base blows by Zeleznock, polishing home run. Zeleznock was responsible for driving' home four runs.

As in the past four out of five games, Jones built a fast lead in first two innings, 5 to 2 Kasaback. Hoden and Zeleznock wielded big bats for Sheffield, piloting home five runs.

Merchants rallied two runs in their half, first coming on

Riverside, Bankers Hot Stove Champions

Riverside Lanes emerged undefeated Eastern circuit champions of City Division in Bantam play, beating UCT 12-7 Monday on Lacy field.

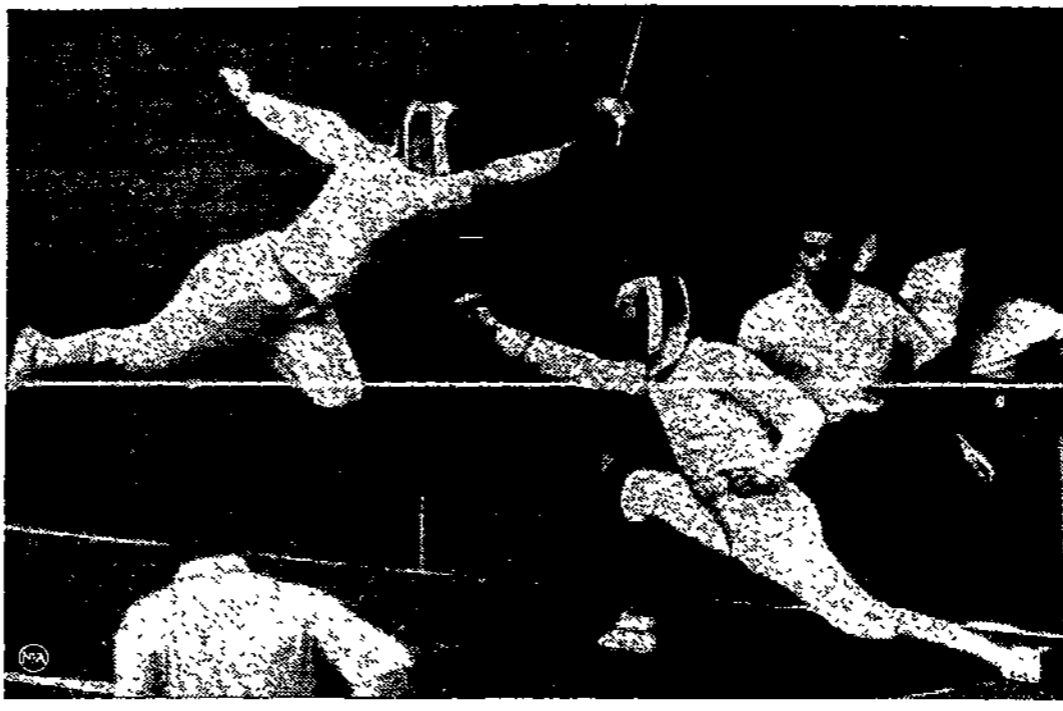

Ed Bosch pitched the final regular-season game for Riverside last evening, Dana Sorenson catching. Anderson tripled for the winners, Geero for UCT.

At North Warren, Warren Bank and Trust and Roy Swanson with 15 strikeouts and one hit shut out Midtown Motors 11 to 0 to become undefeated champions in Western division, Bantam play.

Of their nine games, Bankers had seven shutouts. For the season, Swanson had 127 strikeouts. Their opponents scored only four runs for the entire year, against Bank and Trust's 97 runs.

In last evening's game, Swanson aided his own cause with a home run. Gene Smith tripled while Biechner, Hofner and Brooks doubled. Doug Hoffman was catching.

Midtown batteries were B. Dietsch and H. Wenzel.

OPTICAL ILLUSION—Karl Koestler seems to be skewered on Ted Mendelenyi's saber during the World Individual Championships in Budapest. The Hungarian avoids a head thrust by the soaring German and parries with a neat riposte that touches his opponent's body for score.

Conservation Camp School Nears Completion of Term

Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsman's clubs most important project, education of youth in conservation practices, has nearly completed another camp school of conservation.

Aside from State Junior Conservation Education Camp at Penn State, there are at least three being conducted in the Northwest division in Butler, Lawrence and Mercer counties as county projects.

Highest grade examination papers of attending boys are the deciding factor for whom shall have the opportunity of furthering their studies in the field of conservation at State University next year.

Subjects covered in camp include human as well as resource conservation, safe handling of weapons, survival in the outdoors, identification and protection of poisonous snakes, first aid, safe boating, swimming and life-saving and civilian defense.

All phases of resource management and conservation are included in the schools' curriculum.

ANOTHER LINE—The similarity between Joe Louis and his son, nicknamed Punchy, is seen in the caps they wear. The former heavyweight champion is beginning his boy's sports instruction at an early age—but in golf, not the boxing game.

Braves' Invasion Of Coast Vital To League Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that the player pension fund is rolling in crisp All-Star dollars, the athletes can turn their undivided attention to the bread and butter realities of the pennant races.

The National League struggle could be cleared up considerably in the next few days when the third-place Milwaukee Braves visit both the leading San Francisco Giants and the runner-up Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants, clinging to a half game lead over the Dodgers, entertain the Braves for the next three days, starting tonight. Milwaukee then moves on to the Coliseum for two big weekend games.

The two-team race in the American League in which Chicago holds a three-game edge over the Cleveland Indians, finds both clubs stepping off on long road trips.

Chicago will play 13 games at Baltimore, Washington, Detroit and Kansas City before returning home for the final visit of the Eastern teams. Cleveland will hit the same cities in a different rotation for a total of 14 consecutive road games.

Unless both the White Sox and Indians collapse completely on this journey, they should have things all to themselves the rest of the way. Baltimore and Kansas City, tied for third, are 11 games back. New York in fifth place is 12 games off the pace and Detroit in sixth trails by 13.

Both races may be won on the road this season. A look at the schedules of the top teams for the rest of the season shows that Chicago plays 29 of its remaining 52 games away, and the Indians have 29 of 50 out of town. In the NL, the Braves have 29 of 50, the Dodgers 25 of 47 and the Giants 26 of 50.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

DENVER (AP)—Cleveland McCarty, 26, a Denver dental student at Washington University in St. Louis, is four days ahead of schedule in his attempt to scale all 54 of Colorado's 14,000-foot peaks in as many days.

He has climbed 31 of the peaks in 27 days.

Arcaro Gives the $2 Better Jockey's-Eye View of Racing

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Back in the saddle again and riding high at Jamaica after his frightening spill in the Belmont Stakes, Eddie Arcaro was discussing the little things, other than jockeys, that influence races.

What Arcaro was talking about was old stuff to those with an inside knowledge of the turf, but his words would have glistened like pearls of wisdom before the average $2 bettor who has difficulty distinguishing between a Kentucky Derby candidate and a lead "ony."

Erodite Edward, one of the best informed men around the track, was giving a jockey's-eye view.

The wind, it seems, can have a profound effect on a race.

"ON THE OLD WIDENER chute, a straightaway at Belmont that was discontinued this year, a horse that would do three-quarters in 12 against the wind might make it in 10 with the wind behind him," said Arcaro. Three-quarters is track parlance for three-quarters of a mile and 12 and 10 translate into 1 minute, 12 seconds and 1 minute, 10.

"Last fall I landed beat intentionally and Tony Lee in the slowest time for the Champagne at Belmont since the race was made a mile in 1940," Eddie pointed out. "That's because the field had to buck a 28-mile-an-hour headwind almost three-quarters of the distance."

The moral to the bettor, if any, is—bring a wind gauge.

CONTRARY TO POPULAR belief, the No. 1 post position is not always the best by any means, according to Arcaro.

"Some horses like to run on the outside and others favor the rail. If you get an outside runner in 1, 2 or 3 post position, you've either got to break fast from the gate and stay ahead of the pack, or you've got to drop back, and swing around the field," says the little man who has been called the greatest of the race riders.

"If you get a horse that's slow from the gate or hasn't the stamina to stay out in front all the way, you have to drop back and swing to the outside. Then the chances are that many in the crowd will say, 'Look at that idiot! Taking the long way round when he has a hole he could drive a truck through on the rail!'"

"Of course, everything I've said goes in reverse for a horse that likes the rail but draws an outside position," Arcaro cautioned.

FROM THIS, IT SEEMS it would behoove the bettor to determine from a careful study of past performances whether a horse of his choice has drawn a post position to its liking.

Horses don't run according to the precise mathematical formulas that govern the fall of dice, turn of the roulette wheel or the outcome of other wagering games played with inanimate objects.

If they did, what with the 12 to 17 per cent bite taken from the mutuels, the $2 bettor would have as much chance of beating the races as Mrs. N. Khrushchev has of becoming president of the D.A.R. But horses don't do arithmetic, and therein lies another way the bettor can reduce the odds against him.

Speaking of Sports

Carrying a mark under his left eye as evidence of a ring battle, Tiona's crossroads may-or Tom "The Florida Rock" Gerarde strolled into our offices Monday afternoon, making himself at home beside our desk, where he and former amateur handler Joe Fazio spent many a night, Gerarde told of his many adventures and life as a pro boxer in Miami Beach.

Gerarde explained that the left eye bruise resulted from a second round bunt by Don Norman in their go July 28—which Tom won via KO trail. That was Rocky's fourth fight under pro governorship, his first by knockout.

Tom's back to his normal 165-pound bracket again, after managers tried to trim him down to a middleweight. Losing 20 pounds began "hurting me too much," Gerarde said, so his handlers let him drift back into light-heavy. He lost his only pro fight while pushing the leather with a weak 165-pound heave. And that was a hotly disputed split decision.

Just recently, Tom sparred with Willy Pastrano, before the latter's fight with Anzaloue Johnson. Pastrano lost.

IN HIS DRESSING ROOM last Tuesday was Joey Maxim, light-heavy champ from 1950-52. Joey says to Tom: the Rock has good possibilities and he (Joey) can help out a lot with Tom. "Joey was the first guy in the ring after I knocked out Norman," Gerarde told us. He went right through the ropes and congratulated Tom.

They're still after our boy from Tiona. Recently Charlie Pavlis' manager, Al King, out of NYC, wanted to buy Rocky's contract. Vince Dundee, Tom's manager, said "No!"

A few weeks ago Tom sparred with Al Weill's new boy from England, Dave Rent, a

Plans for Rematch Of Heavyweights Are Up in the Air

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—There was every indication today the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson match would come off Sept. 22 as tentatively scheduled, but where it will be held and how the arrangements will be handled are in the vague category.

The two remaining directors of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. — Vincent Vellela and Irving Kahn—admittedly have no experience in fight promotion. Vellela says his interest primarily is in the finances. Kahn, as president of Teleprompter, Inc., is interested primarily in the ancillary rights including television, radio and movies.

This situation developed Monday when Bill Rosensohn, president of Rosensohn enterprises, severed all connection with the organization and said he would sell his one third interest for $75,000 to anyone who cared to buy.

Rosensohn's resignation came as an outgrowth of a feud with Vellela which came into the open last Friday. Vellela, who holds two thirds of the stock, elected Kahn as a third director of the enterprises. Kahn and Rosensohn have not been on the best of terms.

Rosensohn, front man and ostensibly promoter of the first fight in June in which Johansson scored a knockout in the third round, said he had offered Vellela and Kahn a chance to buy his stock, or allow him to buy Vellela's stock for $150,000.

Vellela said he would not buy or sell without first going over the company's books.

Vellela said the promotional loss on the first fight was "closer to $70,000 than the announced $40,000" and that the promotional expense was close to $300,000, a figure he termed fantastic.

Rosensohn said he is entirely out of the picture now, although Rosensohn Enterprises holds Johansson's contract for the return fight.

In Sweden, the champion's advisor, Edwin Ahlquist, said, "We very much regret the resignation of Bill Rosensohn, and we are going to demand a full investigation into the whole business before any decision on the return match is passed."

Pymatuning Motorboat Bill Goes to Governor

HARRISBURG (AP)—Final legislative approval has been given a proposal to open the northern sector of Pymatuning Lake in Crawford County to the use of motorboats of up to six horsepower.

The Senate Monday passed, 48-2, a House-approved bill and sent it to Gov. Lawrence. The negative votes were cast by Sens. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) and Paul Mahady (D-Westmoreland).

The huge lake is now closed to motorboating North of the Andover-Espyville Causeway. The section to be opened for motorboating would be north of that to a causeway carrying the Linesville-Espyville Highway.

The extreme northeastern end of the lake would remain a fishing reserve closed to motorboating.

The legislation is the result of a special study ordered by former Gov. Leader. He set up a commission to look into the fishing, hunting and recreation potential of the lake.

Pirates Still Hoping To Hit Comeback Trail

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The falling Pittsburgh Pirates hope to start a climb back up the National League ladder on the shoulders of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The two second-division teams meet tonight in the opener of a three-game series.

Vernon Law (11-7) will pitch for the Pirates against rookie Bob Gibson (1-0).

The Bucs hold a 9-6 edge over the Cardinals this season. But at home the Cardinals have won four of seven.

Pittsburgh has lost 12 of 13 on its current road trip, a slump that has dropped it into fifth place. The team is 9½ games out of first place and only a half-game from the sixth spot occupied by St. Louis.

Rotarians Hear Warren JC Report

William Clinger, past president of Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce, was special guest of Warren Rotary Club Monday when he told the club about the objectives and purpose of JCs, and listed their current projects.

"Although our organization exists on community service projects," Mr. Clinger said, "our primary purpose is in the field of leadership training. We feel that we make an important contribution to the community by training young men in business in the techniques of leadership. This we do by way of practical application.

"The use of community service projects has proven most successful for us in carrying out our organization's objectives. We feel that every service project, successful or not, is worthwhile in that it has provided a number of our men with leadership experience.

"Currently we are busy planning for the following summer and fall projects: Junior Tennis Tourney, J. C. Alumni Picnic, Turkey Shoot, Halloween parade and party, erection of the Christmas sign, sponsorship of the performance by the Stratford Shakespearean Players, the Concert and film series, and a visit by the 'Atoms for Peace' traveling demonstration."

Rotary President William Walker thanked Mr. Clinger for his presentation and expressed his desire to see the Junior Chamber of Commerce continue their most excellent service projects.

Dick Ross announced that an auction and rummage sale would be held by the Club on August 21-22. An inter-club meeting with Corry is being arranged for Wednesday, August 19. The meeting will be preceded by a golf tournament between the two clubs.

Both Congressman Gavin and Senator Clark expressed confidence that the appropriation will be included in the final bill that is sent to the president.

in shaping House action on bills. Before it was a bill approved 16-14 by the House Labor Committee but opposed by many who want it changed on the House floor.

The committee consequently was expected to send the bill to the floor wide-open to amendment to satisfy members who contend it is too weak and needs strengthening, and others who say it is too tough and needs toning down.

The Rules Committee, under pressure to get the bill before the House this week, suspended hearings on other legislation to give it priority.

As it came from the Labor Committee, the measure eased many restrictions of the Senate-passed bill but followed that bill's general pattern.

Car Crash Victims Reported Improved

Two Warren men injured in separate accidents over the weekend, continue to improve in area hospitals today.

Reported in satisfactory condition in Meadville's Spencer Hospital is James Halberg, 43, of 510 Liberty street. Halberg, a clerk at the local liquor store, was injured in a head-on collision near Meadville early Sunday afternoon.

A passenger in the other car which was on the wrong side of the highway, Mrs. Leona Ongley, is in fair condition. A hospital spokesman at Spencer said Mrs. Ongley spent a fairly comfortable night. She was listed as critical Monday.

Robert F. Wagner, 10 North Irvine street, spent a fairly good night and is improved today, a spokesman for Jamestown General Hospital said today.

Wagner sustained a possible back injury, abrasion of the tibia and contusions of the forehead when his car failed to make a curve on Rte 17-J early Saturday morning.

Negotiators

Finnegan said that an exchange of viewpoints Monday convinced both sides that another joint session today would be worthwhile.

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., and David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers of America, issued public statements aimed at each other.

A major factor in the clash of words was the industry's contention that an increase in labor costs would force a rise in steel prices and spur inflation.

McDonald said the steel companies had issued an ultimatum to the government to keep it from fulfilling what he called its "constitutional and statutory responsibilities" to help settle the dispute.

Mitchell said Monday night he expected President Eisenhower would not invoke the 80-day strike injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Act unless the strike situation became a national emergency.

At the president's reception, Nixon won applause from Polish officials and foreign diplomats with a toast to peace.

Speaking in the great hall of the palace of Poland's cabinet, the vice president recalled that President Eisenhower had seen the war destruction in Poland 14 years ago and that Nixon himself had seen Warsaw's reconstruction.

Nixon referred to his talks with Polish leaders during the day. "There was complete agreement on this one issue: what happened to Warsaw, what happened to Poland in the last war, to Poland that suffered in two wars, must not happen again either to Poland or any other country on earth," he declared.

Letters to Editor

July 31, 1959

Editor Warren Times-Mirror

Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:

We are trying to convince Russia that they should allow the Germans a free election in Germany. How can we do this when some of the Council of Warren do not recognize the fact that the majority of citizens voted against fluoridation recently.

The Council has listened to statistics of the Public Health Service, presented by M.D.'s and Dentists of Warren who also used half and full page ads in your newspapers. Of these statistics Dr. A. A. London, Dentist of Broomton, N. J., says "they are used like a drunk uses a lamp post, more for support than illumination."

Are the doctors paying for these ads? We believe not. Is someone outside Warren interested in making a sale?

75 cities have discarded fluoridation after having used it. Doesn't anyone wonder why? Only 1/10 of 1% of fluoridated water is supposed to help children teeth, the rest goes down drains commercially — a real waste of money.

How can it be free to Warren when other cities are spending large amounts for fluoridation? Who first requested fluoridation for Warren? Not one single promoter can tell you how the dosage can be controlled by fluoridation due to one child drinking 2 glasses and another 10 glasses of water per day.

How can they prove it to be safe? 52 Cases of fluoride poisoning have been reported.

As it now appears, the only way citizens can stop fluoridation in the future is to vote Councilmen into office who will uphold the wishes of the majority of the people.

This increased the feeling in the West that party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his associates were troubled over the top-level East-West meetings from which they will be excluded.

Talks with Eisenhower and a 10-day tour of the country are among the plans for the Khrushchev visit. Reports from Moscow said the Soviet Premier is expected to bring along his wife, son and daughter.

With most details still uncertain, there has been no announcement whether Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany her husband to Europe.

From the standpoint of diplomatic troubleshooting, Eisenhower's trip to Western Europe shaped up as a picnic compared with the tough task dealing with the Russians on East-West issues.

Eisenhower will be returning to the area where he served many years as an international military commander. The Allies, despite some differences, see eye to eye on most problems.

The largest exception in this harmony scene is the towering figure of French President Charles de Gaulle, whose ideas about France's destiny have caused concern in the Western camp.

De Gaulle has demanded a voice for France in the use of atomic weapons, has withdrawn the French Mediterranean Fleet from NATO combat command, and has embarked on a controversial campaign to quell the Algerian insurrection.

Eisenhower has not met with De Gaulle since he took office. Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Adenauer both have been to Washington this year. But the nationalistic Frenchman has brushed aside invitations to visit.

The European journey gives Eisenhower a chance to talk with De Gaulle without obviously going out of his way to do so.

Washington authorities waded into the many details that remain to be ironed out on the Khrushchev visit.

The broad agreement for the exchange was handled in high secrecy and on such a high level that most State Department officials below the rank of undersecretary seemed unaware of it until Monday's announcement.

U. N. diplomats expect Khrushchev will address the General Assembly in New York. He could do that without an invitation, as a member of the Soviet delegation.

Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:

We are trying to convince Russia that they should allow the Germans a free election in Germany. How can we do this when some of the Council of Warren do not recognize the fact that the majority of citizens voted against fluoridation recently.

The Council has listened to statistics of the Public Health Service, presented by M.D.'s and Dentists of Warren who also used half and full page ads in your newspapers. Of these statistics Dr. A. A. London, Dentist of Broomton, N. J., says "they are used like a drunk uses a lamp post, more for support than illumination."

Are the doctors paying for these ads? We believe not. Is someone outside Warren interested in making a sale?

75 cities have discarded fluoridation after having used it. Doesn't anyone wonder why? Only 1/10 of 1% of fluoridated water is supposed to help children teeth, the rest goes down drains commercially — a real waste of money.

How can it be free to Warren when other cities are spending large amounts for fluoridation? Who first requested fluoridation for Warren? Not one single promoter can tell you how the dosage can be controlled by fluoridation due to one child drinking 2 glasses and another 10 glasses of water per day.

How can they prove it to be safe? 52 Cases of fluoride poisoning have been reported.

As it now appears, the only way citizens can stop fluoridation in the future is to vote Councilmen into office who will uphold the wishes of the majority of the people.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Young men today are impossible," said Elaine Malbin, the tiny spitfire of opera. Miss Malbin has a problem. She is young and pretty and as vibrantly alive as a violin string. She has smoldering eyes the color of autumn leaves. She has one of the best lyric soprano voices in the land. She makes up to $75,000 a year. But she has a problem. It is the same problem faced by millions of other career women her age—finding the right guy. The public never thinks the feminine stars of the entertainment world have many dating woes. But they do. They have plenty. The very gifts that make them famous turn out in a way to be a reverse curse. They scare away many men. "That's part of my trouble," said Elaine ruefully. "Of course, it's partly my fault too. I'm afraid I can't be attracted to just an ordinary guy. I hesitate to date a man who isn't interesting. And to me the interesting men are those I feel are above me mentally, or who have achieved more." She finds the current crop of DEATH'S TRAGIC CALL — Seconds after Miss Elizabeth Brogna, 29, entered this curbside telephone booth in Boston, a dory being towed by a car broke loose and crushed her to death. The bow of the boat slammed into the booth and the front of its trailer hit Miss Brogna just above the chest.

American young men pretty dull company—even "impossible." "Young men are too glib," she said. "They are glib about things they know nothing about—such as work. I have worked too long and too hard myself to care for glibness. I like older men because they appreciate you more but the best ones are already taken." Why not fall in love with someone in her own field? Miss Malbin shook her midnight mane vehemently. "I don't find American male opera stars very sexy," she said flatly. "I prefer businessmen and writers." Brooklyn-born Miss Malbin started singing at 11, made her debut here at the age of 14. She wears sometimes of the exacting discipline of opera, particularly since she said it is financially far less rewarding than television or the supper club circuit.

She still practices three hours every day. "But the hardest thing to me is that I have to live in accord with the demands of my vocal art," she said. "It means I can't talk as much as I want to; smoke at all, or stay up late at night. I've worked very hard and long I've worked and watched the world go by. Now I feel I want to see more of the world—and watch the work go by." "I never regret what I've done, and I don't want to live to regret what I have not done. I'm very stormy, and I guess I like stormy people who are tremendous workers." She paused, brooding. Asked if there was anything else she wanted to say, the little girl with the big fine voice smiled and said: "Help!"

Downward Trend In Infant Deaths Comes to An End

NEW YORK—The long-term downward trend in infant mortality has come to an abrupt — if temporary — halt, it is reported by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

There were approximately 113,000 deaths among babies under one year of age in 1958, equivalent to a rate of 26.9 per 1,000 live births. This compares with the rate of 26.4 per 1,000 in 1957 and the all-time low of 26.1 in 1956 reported by the National Office of Vital Statistics.

The record of the last two years is in sharp contrast with that of the decade between 1945-46 and 1955-56, the statisticians point out. During that period every state, without exception, succeeded in reducing its infant mortality rate.

In 31 states and the District of Columbia, the decrease amounted to 25 per cent or more. New Mexico's infant mortality rate fell no less than 56 per cent, and Maine and West Virginia each recorded a reduction of over 40 per cent.

All of the major causes of infant mortality, except post-natal asphyxia, showed a decline during the decade ending in 1955-56. The death rate from the gastro-intestinal diseases—gastritis, dysentery, and diarrhea of the newborn—dropped more than 60 per cent.

For whooping cough, the decline was about 75 per cent; the other three communicable diseases of childhood—measles, scarlet fever, and diphtheria—have been reduced to vanishing proportions as causes of death in infancy.

The improvement in mortality has been considerably greater in later infancy than in the early weeks of life, the statisticians report. For infants beyond one month of age, the death rate fell 40 per cent between 1945-46 and 1955-56. For babies under four weeks of age, the decline was little more than 20 per cent.

The less rapid downward trend for this early age reflects mainly the limited gains made in reducing mortality in the first day of life. For infants under one day of age, the death rate fell only 12 per cent. Currently nearly two fifths of all infant deaths occur in the very first day of life; ten years earlier the proportion was one third.

This record for very early life is unfavorably influenced by the fact that an appreciable number of infants, who in the past would have died during fetal life, are now born alive but succumb soon after.

"Although a marked degree of control has been gained over mortality in infancy, the experience of the past few years clearly indicates that there is no room for complacency," the Metropolitan statisticians conclude.

"The increase in infant mortality reported in 1957 and 1958 undoubtedly reflected the widespread prevalence of influenza in those years, but the fact that the death rate during most of 1958 was greater than in the like part of 1957 suggests that other factors may be involved. "It should be possible to reduce the infant mortality rate for the country as a whole to that already attained by some of the states."
